

CHAPTER 1 - THE INTRO

We open up the story with Quigz in a laughter. Then a slap to his back from Essie right after.

Quigz – Hey, what was that for? I’m just trying to get Bonez to man up. He just needs to be smooth and be like, hey Peep what’s up.

Essie – Yeah, just like you did the other day? I remember seeing Sally and the Goonsquad forcing you to pay.

Quigz – It was a few old wristbands, nothing too special. Sally and the Goonsquad just like to play wrestle.

Essie – Looked more like a beatdown if you had to ask me.

And this was the crew, Quigz, Essie and Bonez; they were the three.

Quigz was a bit of a wild card, he always had something to say. His shirt was loose, his pants were tight, and they were always the color gray. His hair was long, red, and curly; his skateboard was a bright green. He was always doing wild things and creating an interesting scene.

Essie was the cool guy; at times it would go to his head. But a genuine heart and smart as a whip, he always made sure to be well-read. His hair was short and black; he always made sure to keep it in style. And he always seemed to get what he wanted, by showing off his smile.

Bonez is the good guy, always helping others and focusing on his dream. He wanted to be the best skater around, so he practiced every day with his team. Bonez is his given nickname; Gus was his original birth name. He loved his shirt with the skeleton boy, and from there his nickname came.

Bonez – Alright guys, enough. No need to get rough. With all this smack talk, are you ready to race? Andrews Street's pretty fast; it moves at a quick pace.

Chapter 1 - The Intro

Downhill skateboarding is the sport of Letitbe's town. Sally with her huge skateboard, is the best skater around. But this was the year that Bonez would put Sally to the test. He's been practicing every day; he hasn't taken a day's rest. Tomorrow was the big race, that's always close to the end of summer. Bonez believes he can beat Sally and take the title from her.
